

Paul Weigle, MD

Dr. Paul Weigle is the Associate Medical Director at Natchaug Hospital. He is Board Certified in both Psychiatry and Child and Adolescent Psychiatry, having completed a medical doctorate from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, and an internship, residency, and fellowship at Harvard Medical School. He specializes in the effects of screen habits on the mental health of youth, a topic on which he has authored numerous scientific articles and regularly presents at international meetings and on major network television and radio programs. Dr. Weigle currently serves as chair of the American Academy of Child & Adolescent Psychiatry's Media Committee and on the National Scientific Advisory Board for the Institute of Digital Media and Child Development. He is a clinical professor at the U Conn School of Medicine.