

Arik Alper, MD

Assistant Professor

Department of Pediatrics

Section of Pediatric Gastroenterology / Hepatology

Yale University School of Medicine

Arik Alper, MD is an Assistant professor at the department of pediatrics in Yale New Haven Hospital. As a pediatric gastroenterologist, he specialized in infant feeding and aero-digestive disorders.

He is a graduate of Hebrew University medical school in Jerusalem and completed his fellowship in pediatric Gastroenterology in Yale New Haven Hospital.